COLDS

"Pepe's Cold Compound" is Quickest Relief Known

Don't say stuffed-up! Quit blow-nose, nose running; relieve headache and sniffing! A dose of "Pepe's Cold Compound," the famous "Cold Compound" taken every two hours—"Pepe's Cold Compound" is the hours until three doses are taken—quick, surest relief known and usually breaks up a cold and ends all sorts of a few cents at drug stores. It is without assistance. Tasteless misery.

The first dose opens clogged-up throat. Contains no quinine. Tastes nostrils and air passages of head upon Pepe's.

PROF. CHARLES R. CROSS OF TECHNOLOGY DEAD

Charles R. Cross, an eminent American physicist and former professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is dead at his home at No. 100 Upland road, Brookline, at the age of seventy-three.

Professor Cross had a long career of scientific activity. Due to his foresight and determination, in 1902 Technology established the precedent of giving a degree in electrical engineering, which was then the first degree-giving electrical course in the country. Professor Cross was one of the chief factors in the development of applied science at the beginning of its growth in the middle of the last century.

Harvard Students Mulcted by Fake Collectors

The swindlers who occasionally ply their trade at Harvard have a new idea. They have been operating in the college dormitories under the pretence of collecting installments for the Harvard Endowment Fund which they claim are due. Men who have payments due are asked to send the money direct to the Endowment Fund headquarters in Wadsworth House, Cambridge.

OFFICER SAYS WATSON CHARGES ARE FALSE

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 17.—Charges of unwarranted hangings of American soldiers overseas, recently made in the United States Senate by Senator Watson of Georgia, were denied here today by Colonel William O. Gilbert, who had charge of death, dismissal and penitentiary cases at A. E. F. headquarters at Chaumont, France. "There is not one word of truth in the tales of these executions," Colonel Gilbert was quoted as saying. "I remember rightly, there were about ten men executed in France," adding that the death penalty was not inflicted except for murder and insubordination.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY Woman's Day at Copley-Plaza a Big Success

By BETTY ALDEN.

Without a doubt was Woman's Day at the Copley-Plaza a success—the crowds of fashionable folk who thronged the hotel from early morning until after midnight testified to that. The only possible fault to find with the day's program was that there were almost too many good things going on at once. Every one seemed a bit confused—none wanted to miss anything and yet no one seemed to know just where to go next.

SOCIETY GIRL ENTERTAINERS Mrs. Dudley Ranney (on the right), who is seen as she appeared with Miss Helen Bennett in a recent Vincent Club show, was one of the matrons who took part in the "mid-night" Frolic, which early this morning wound up the festivities of "Woman's Day."

Music was but one of the too-many-to-be-remembered events which took place on Woman's Day's program.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK H. BRADLEY, Jr., of "Pineapple Club," who will pass the Winter in New York, have chosen a home at No. 116 East Fifty-sixth street. A few weeks ago a son was born to them in New York.

Robert Scott Bradley and his daughter, Miss Hammond Bradley, of Commonwealth avenue have arrived at Hot Springs, Va., where the latter will take the cure. Recently, Mrs. Bradley was in charge of the big rummage sale held for two days in Horticultural Hall for a charitable cause and in which a large number of society women took part as saleswomen.

William Lindsey of Bay State road was among the passengers sailing for Europe aboard the Aquitania. On the same boat were Baron Alfred von Thun, Mr. Harold Miller and Norman Wainmaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley D. Adams (Louise Adams) of Buckminster road, Brookline, are stopping at the Hotel Algonquin in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pace Burr (Lawrence Howlett), who were married in New York on Saturday, are spending their honeymoon at the Homestead in Hot Springs, Va., where they plan to remain until the end of the month.

Both Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Cushman occupied boxes at the Nathan Theatre in the capital when the New York Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of Walter Damrosch, gave an all-Wagner program. Mrs. Cushman was seated with Princess Cantacuzene, mother-in-law of Princess Cantacuzene, Jr. (Clara Curiel), formerly of Boston. In the same audience were Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Henry Clay, Mrs. George H. Pratt, Dent Grant and Mrs. Frederick H. Pratt, the latter, the wife of the Speaker and formerly of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, well known along the North Shore, who have been in the Orient, are now at Rye Beach, Wis., on their way home and will return to their winter home in Washington early in December. Early last Summer they stayed for a few days at the Copley-Plaza and were missed from their estate at Fresh Water Cove on the Niagara-Cliquoter shore.

CRIMSON WORRIES OVER STYLE OF THE BLUE DEFENCE END PLAY

By CHARLES E. PARKER.
We suspect Harvard coaches are worrying not a little over the type of defensive end play Yale will employ on Saturday. Certainly there is much speculation on this subject among other college football authorities. The addition of a new line for Yale's method of

Outmatched by Her Honest Simplicity

"You can't have my son, and he can't have you," said the hard-shelled master of millions as he fixed his determined gaze on the child-like face of the girl. "We'll send the boy abroad for a year—and get his mind off you. I don't blame you. Nature has made you her victim. Your mouth is too apt for kisses. You couldn't be true to any one man. A girl like you is her own conspiracy against herself, with every man for her confederate. Now, young woman, what is the amount of the check I shall write to suit your wounded feelings and pay your expenses to some distant spot where my son will never see you again?"

UNEMPLOYMENT DOES NOT EXIST FOR MEN WE WANT

If the man seeking for the ever elusive job will put forth the same effort in working for himself with us he will earn more than that ever elusive job will ever pay. Practically the only chance a live man has today is through salesmanship.

Previous experience counts for much less, with us, than aggressiveness and responsibility. These are facts.
